INTRODUCING OUR NEW PRAYER BOOK MISHKAN T'FILAH

For some, the discipline of prayer is difficult; speaking of it is practically pointless. For others, prayer is the essence of being a Jew.

We are deeply excited by the birth of a new prayer book for the Reform Movement, Mishkan T'filah. The appearance of any new prayer book—the heart and soul of Jewish thought, faith, yearning, wonder, gratitude, our outpourings to God—is cause for profound celebration. At Wilshire Boulevard Temple, we have unique reasons to rejoice, as Mishkan T'filah is only the third prayer book to be used in our history as a Reform congregation. We've been served well by the Union Prayer Book, as well as Shabbat Worship, created by Rabbi Fields with great love for our community—and now Mishkan T'filah.

Some of you know that we've been integrating Mishkan T'filah in a variety of formats into our prayer opportunities for several years now. It's used by our youth in our Center for Learning and Engagement and Brawerman Elementary School, and at our Shabbat Minyan and Soul Sounds Shabbat as well. In the fall, we will adopt it as our regular Shabbat evening and morning siddur.

Mishkan T'filah contains many wonderful features. The editor, Rabbi Elyse Frishman, conceived of a brilliant device whereby every two-page spread contains a traditional prayer with translation and full transliteration on the right page, and alternative English readings on that prayer's theme on the left. Each page ends with the traditional chatimah (closing). Mishkan T'filah encourages individual prayer alongside and in addition to the congregational voice, and offers a full array of traditional and contemporary liturgy.

Of course, the success of Mishkan T'filah ultimately rests with us—each and every one of us. For those to whom prayer comes easily, you will find great fulfillment. If you find prayer difficult, here's an opportunity to explore Jewish prayer, in its rich tradition, as it addresses all matters of the heart and spirit: from physical well-being to connection to God; from daily mantras to universal prayers for peace; from the whispered plea for help to the proud pronouncement of gratitude; from isolation to community; from sadness to exultation.

All of this and more is inside the pages of Mishkan T'filah. Let's open it together, over and over again. There, we'll find wonder and beauty, meaning and purpose—ourselves, each other, God... eternity.

Baruch ata Adonai eloheinu melach ha-olam: she-be-che-yanu, v'kiy'-manu, v'higi'anu—laz'man hazeh.

Praise to You, Adonai our God,
Sovereign of the Universe, for giving us life,
sustaining us, and enabling us to reach this sacred moment!

THE SIX SENSES

STEP ASIDE MOSES

VA'ETCHANAN | DEUTERONOMY 3:23-7:11

“No, no, no. No, David! No!” The ever-popular children’s book No, David! is always a source of giggles and huge smiles. But there’s nothing funny when a genuine request is made and the reply is “no.” Human nature seems to fight “No, you can’t eat that,” and “No, you have to rest 20 minutes before you get back into the pool.” We all want to have things our way.

This week’s Torah portion places God and Moses in an unenviable dialogue. This is the biggest “no” of the Torah, as it were. God tells Moses—our chosen leader, who talks directly to God, delivers us out of Egypt, brings us the law, makes water spring forth from a rock, has to deal with kvetching and complaints from 600,000 Israelites traveling without running water or air conditioning—that he will not enter the Promised Land. And as far as God is concerned,

GOD IS REALLY OUR LEADER,
THE ONE WHO HAS CHOSEN US,
DELIVERED US FROM EGYPT,
GIVEN US LAW, AND ALSO PUTS UP WITH OUR KVETCHING, LISTENS TO US AND IS THE SOURCE OF OUR PRAYERS.

no is NO. God retorts, in a way, with the words of the Shema: “Listen, oh Israel, Adonai our God, Adonai is One.” We listen to God. God is really our leader, the One who has chosen us, delivered us from Egypt, given us law, and also puts up with our kvetching, listens to us and is the source of our prayers. Unfortunately for Moses, the time has come for him to step aside. Our people must move forward to be tested and thrive in a new land.

A Mitzvah Without a Blessing? Ask Nike!

Jews are a people of endless gratitude. From our first breath in the morning to the last moment before we sleep, there are blessings for practically every situation we can imagine. We thank God for the simple fact we have awakened to another day, for encountering life; we even bless God as we stand before the graves of loved ones. Yet for all these—as well as for the many other obvious—opportunities to voice our gratitude, there’s one mitzvah, one sacred obligation, for which we Jews remain uncharacteristically silent: the mitzvah of doing tikkun olam.

Why wouldn’t we bless acts of repairing the world? First of all, to praise God in the midst of helping others could lead us (or others) to imagine it’s good for people to be in need so we can improve their lives. Would that it were, no one would need a bag of food or shelter from life’s storms—that would truly be a messianic era. There’s an argument that reciting a blessing in the presence of those less fortunate could create a situation where our people would compete, perhaps unethically, to be “top dog” in doing tikkun olam, and competition is definitely not what this mitzvah is about. Finally, blessing God for a world in need of repair is simply nonsensical, since what needs mending—whether the environment, the community or an individual—is most often a result of human misbehavior, and not something for which we would hold God responsible.

What’s a good Jew to do? I don’t know who in the marketing department at Nike did the research and development, the focus groups or the design concept, but one thing is for sure—their motto is also ours when it comes to making the world a better place: JUST DO IT.

■ Rabbi Stephen Julius Stein

THANK YOU PARENTS!

The Parent Association here at the Mann Family Early Childhood Center never sleeps. We wish to thank all of our amazing parents who volunteer throughout the year; our school wouldn't be the one we all know and love without your tireless support. Day or night, school year or summertime, there are always plans being finalized, copies being made and new, exciting activities being planned!

This past school year, we had several parents express an interest in having speakers come in to discuss relevant topics. Our amazing parents wanted it, they planned it—and now we happily introduce our new Parent Association committee that will be bringing in a variety of speakers throughout the year. The series will include Dr. Francine Kaufman, who will talk about raising healthy children, and Pattie Fitzgerald, founder of Safely Ever After, Inc., just to name a few. The series is going to be an amazing resource for everyone. We're all so excited about this new opportunity. Again, thank you to our fabulous Parent Association for all that you do!

Arezou Berghoff - Parent Association Vice President Nursery School, Lorin Michaels – Parent Association Vice President Nursery School, Merav Broder – Parent Association President Nursery School.

For more information about the Parent Association or to get involved, please contact the Early Childhood Center office at (213) 388-2401.

THE SIX SENSES

WRITTEN AT CAMP HESS KRAMER, MALIBU, CA. 2008

WE ALL KNOW OF THE FIVE SENSES:
SIGHT, TASTE, HEARING, FEELING, AND SMELL.
BUT THERE IS ONE MORE:
THE SENSE OF HAPPINESS, TOGETHERNESS.
ON SHABBAT, WE FEEL THIS SENSE.
WE PRAY TOGETHER, SWAYING AS WE GO.
WE FEEL CALM, AND AT EASE.
WE FEEL HAPPY, AT HOME WHEN WE ARE UNITED.
FROM THE FIRST THREE STARS IN THE SKY,
TO THE MOMENT OF SMELLING THE SWEET,
FULFILLING AROMA OF SPICES, WE ARE ONE.
THE SENSATION OF JOY AND COMFORT IS WITH US, BECAUSE ON SHABBAT, WE ARE TOGETHER.
WE TRULY, DEEPLY ARE ONE.

WILSHIRE BOULEVARD TEMPLE'S NEW "URBAN PIONEERS" ENJOY LIFE IN THE CITY AND THEIR NEIGHBORHOOD TEMPLE

In 2005, when the Temple commissioned a demographic study of the neighborhoods surrounding our historic sanctuary, we learned that the Jewish population in the urban center of Los Angeles had grown by 30 percent in the preceding five years. With the opening of the Erika J. Glazer Nursery School this fall, that statistic now has a human face with the enrollment of approximately 50 new families in the Glazer Nursery School programs. These families share a common bond—enjoying the lifestyle of a changing and reviving city while seeking a strong Jewish foundation.

For Rebekah and her husband, Jason, “establishing a relationship with a synagogue was important when we joined two years ago so we could continue the circle of Jewish life when we began our family.” Rebekah grew up as an urbanite, in downtown Kansas City, but traveled daily to the suburbs to attend the Hyman Brand Hebrew Academy. “Giving the same opportunities to our children is important to me,” she says.

She and her husband, Jason, live in Park La Brea and enjoy all of its amenities and neighborhood features. “I can walk to the Farmer’s Market, the Grove, Pan Pacific Park and the LACMA museum complex,” says Rebekah. The Park La Brea has numerous fountains and micro parks—so it all makes for a wonderful lifestyle.”

Their son was born in October, 2007, and when Rebekah read about the Temple’s new nursery school in the bulletin, the Callaways became one of the first families at the parenting center. “We’ll continue with Mommy and Me until he starts nursery school, and then hopefully he’ll go the Temple’s day school. Without family here on the West Coast, our Temple family becomes even more important.”

Mindy and Adam and their son, age 21 months, share many of the same sentiments. Mindy, the director of strategic partnerships at the Milken Institute, grew up in Loveland, CO, in the only Jewish family in town, and had to travel to a temple in neighboring Ft. Collins. With the Temple Campus a scant three miles from their Miracle Mile home, they’re excited to see the Temple investing in our historic campus and committed to being a vital part of our city. Says Mindy, “We’re thrilled to be involved in a Temple that is part of Los Angeles’ diverse, urban fabric.”

But the real dividend for her family is that he loves the parenting center program and is an enthusiastic participant in the “Tot Shabbats.” Mindy says he loves to sing the “Shabbat Song” with its chorus of “bim bam bidi bidi bam” and notes “it’s as familiar to him as ‘Old McDonald.’ It’s wonderful to see my son already developing a sense of Jewish identity—I had no idea it could happen at such an early age!”

Like the Rebekah and Joason, Mindy and Adam view Wilshire Boulevard Temple as a long-term experience for their family. “We’re going to be part of this community our whole lives,” says Mindy. “We got married at Wilshire Boulevard Temple; now Max will become a bar mitzvah here, he’ll go to the camps and schools and will make lifelong friendships with the children he meets here. We know the historic Wilshire Boulevard Temple campus will create an important community, so we’re investing in it and encouraging others to do the same.”

Upcoming Events

SANTA MONICA FOOD PANTRY PARTNERSHIP OPENING SOON!

Sunday, September 7, 2008

We are elated to announce our partnership with OPCC as we begin staffing their food pantry with Wilshire Boulevard Temple volunteers each Sunday morning beginning September 7.

We are celebrating the 20th anniversary of our Temple Campus Food Pantry by “doubling the mitzvah” and partnering in another pantry, this one to feed the homeless. Much like its counterpart at the Temple Campus, the Santa Monica Pantry will operate every Sunday and we need you - particularly “Westsiders” to volunteer. Congregants from ages 5 to 95 are welcome for a variety of opportunities! For more info, email Phyl at pwallace@wbtdla.org or call her at (213) 388-2401.

Summer Announcements

PUBLIC TOURS OF HISTORIC WILSHIRE BOULEVARD TEMPLE

Tuesdays & Thursdays (closed on holidays)
July 10 - September 25
11:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m.

Our historic sanctuary constantly draws visitors who wish to view one of L.A.'s historic landmarks. Now that the City of Los Angeles has installed an “Angels Walk” stanchion outside the Wilshire Boulevard monument as part of its “Self-Guided Historic Trails” program, the Temple is seeing an increase in visitors. Located between two subway stops on the LA Metro’s Purple Line, the Temple is also easily accessible by public transportation.

So back by popular demand, the Temple is reintroducing guided tours beginning this summer. Learn all about “The Synagogue That Hollywood Built” including the beautiful art glass windows and the famous Warner Murals. These tours are free and open to the public.

Tours will resume again after High Holy Days. Check the Temple website for future updates.

Reservations are encouraged. Call Jennifer Levitt - 213 388 2401.
